Clampco Products, Inc. Announces 2012 Conference/Expo Schedule

Wadsworth, OH (June 13, 2012) Clampco Products, Inc, a leading manufacturer of stainless steel clamp products, is excited to announce their participation in (2) major industry conference events. Clampco will exhibit at the IDGA 2012 Military Vehicles Exhibition / Conference and SAE 2012 Commercial Vehicle Engineering Congress.

The IDGA 2012 Military Vehicle Exhibition / Conference will be held at Cobo Conference Center in Detroit, MI on July 11-12, 2012, and is the largest stand-alone military vehicles event in the world. Clampco will be exhibiting in Booth 202, located in the front of the exhibition. "As a major supplier to OEM Military Vehicle Manufacturers, this event allows Clampco to highlight our products and capabilities to existing and potential Customers", said Derek Sandborn, Natl. Sales and Marketing Mgr. at Clampco. Expo web link: <http://www.militaryvehiclesexpo.com/>

The SAE 2012 Commercial Vehicle Engineering Congress will be held at Donald E. Stephens Convention Center in Rosemont, IL on October 2-3, 2012. This Conference is an Engineering based event that focuses on innovations in safety systems, fuel efficiency and emission systems for both On and Off-Highway Vehicles. Clampco will be exhibiting in Booth 508. "Clampco's growth as a major supplier of Heavy Duty Clamp and Stainless Steel Strap products to the OEM and Tiered manufacturers of Diesel After-treatment Emission Systems makes exhibiting at this event a must", continued Derek Sandborn. "The level of engineering talent attending this show provides an excellent opportunity to showcase our experience, innovation and value from Initial Design Concept through Series Production".
